The battery pack voltage frequently fluctuates around 360 V. At the moment of high rate discharge, the battery voltage drops abruptly. Since the voltage amplitude of the battery pack is much higher than that of the injected signal, the voltage waveform of the feedback signal is similar to that of the battery pack, as shown in Fig. 7 (b). Due to ...

To find out what was causing this, I took the battery packs apart and tested each individual battery. These were all AA NiCd batteries soldered together as a pack of six or eight cells, thus making 7.2 or 9.6 volt battery packs. The most common failure that I noticed was that one (or more) of the individual cells was much weaker than all the ...
