All had water over the plates, but one battery in particular had much less water in all three cells than any other battery. I tested all cells with a hydrometer. Most of them were okay, but probably 6 tested low. So I equalized them, after which only one cell tested low (it wasn't in the battery with three cells with less water than the others).

Here, the authors predict that stacked thin-film batteries with 0.15-2 μm thin cathodes can achieve a tenfold increase in specific power to over 10 kW kg⁻¹ and ...

BFS (Battery Filling System) reduces operating costs and increases availability of a battery by automatic simultaneous supplementing of water in all cells of a battery. The need of electrolyte filling in lead acid traction cells is mainly due to water loss during battery operation. Water refilling provides a sufficient level and density of the electrolyte and is a ...

So I got this Pro-Fill watering system for them. It worked perfectly for 6 years, but the squeeze bulb started getting cracks around the hose connections. So after 6 years of RV battery use, it was time to replace the batteries, and replaced the squeeze bulb on the watering system as well. I fully expect another great 6 years of use.
